About Us

To me, photographing weddings isn't just my living, it is my passion. As a storyteller, I try to capture each wedding's uniqueness with a style I call "posed reality" that blends candid and the gently posed traditional. Black and white and sepia toned images are artistically added throughout the day. Starting with the bride's finishing touches, through the main events of the reception, I work on the bride's timeline, not my own. However, many brides ask for my guidance as I help them plan their day.

Environmental portraiture is my specialty, especially our Lake Michigan Shoreline. Outdoors tells so much about your day, the season, and your region. It allows you to relax with the people who are dearest to you before your reception.

Amusingly, I am now known as the "sexy photographer," although I know they are not talking about my personality. I encourage romantic, intimate moments I can capture during their engagement session, wedding day or even at their honeymoon suite.

I offer an emotionally, calm, fun-loving attitude from the planning stages through the entire wedding day. Digital photography is being incorporated into my work, so online viewing and coffee table albums are new additions to the a la carte menu of options available.
